SIXTY-NINTH YEAR . . . NUMBER 13

THURSDAY, MARCH 23, 1946

PRICE: FIVE CENTS

Will Kim Sigler run for governor? Well it's possible. All of which illustrates the more than average confusion which prevails today at Michigan's capital city, Lansing—one place in Michigan where being confused is a normal state of mind.

The sudden turn of events in the Ingham county grand jury, which has been investigating state legislative graft for more than two years, has sent politicians into huddles.

First, the acquittal of Frank McKay, Grand Rapids politician and former Republican national committeeman, was the turning point in Sigler's reality. This led to the senate resolution, adopted by a voice vote, authorizing a special committee to look into the grand jury's disbursements.

Disclosure of a grand jury spending kicked up a new controversy as to whether a state witness, pay-off man for interests seeking to corrupt certain legislators, should be retained at state fees and expenses. When the circuit court judge suspended Sigler temporarily as prosecutor, and Sigler retorted by a sizzling condemnation of the legislature, began to fly winding up with Sigler being "fired" by Judge Louis E. Coash and Richard Foster, a young attorney and former prosecuting attorney, being appointed as his successor. Foster will get the same rate of pay—$100 a day—which isn't peanuts.

Why should Sigler want to run for governor? In the first place, it is human nature for an individual, who is frustrated by opponents, to seek vindication of his position in some manner.

If the state supreme court would decline to oust the Ingham county circuit judge from direction of the grand jury in favor of a private attorney, who has happened to be the state's prosecutor, Sigler might adopt a "watchful waiting" policy to see what happens to the two jury indictments which he had previously groomed, one of them being ready months ago for serving of warrants. If the new prosecutor exhibits a zeal to see the bank and gambling indictments brought to a finish (assuming that the previously gathered evidence stands up under re-examination) then Sigler's case would be weakened in the eyes of the public which is interested chiefly in results, not personalities.

But therein lies one of the main complications. The deadline for filing of primary petitions is Tuesday, April 23. Just a month away. Being "A watchful waiting" policy would automatically exclude Sigler from running for office, since there isn't time at hand in one month for the new prosecutor to accomplish the ends which Sigler desires—the indictment and conviction of a score or more persons in Michigan who are next on the list in the bank and gambling cases.

Entry of Detroit Mayor Edward J. Jeffries in the Republican gubernatorial race, as formally announced by Jeffries last week, was predicted in this column last Dec. 27. Jeffries' candidacy was first launched March 6 in the form of a trial balloon, but his formal statement was released March 12.

Jeffries' candidacy introduces several interesting elements in the primary campaign. He is the spokesman for the big cities and other governments which seek a cut in the state sales tax, as a solution of their tax troubles. Interestingly enough, the election of Jeffries as governor of Michigan would put a CIO-sponsored member of the Detroit council in the position of acting mayor. Detroit CIO unions might like to see Jeffries elected governor just to get rid of him as mayor of Detroit.

It was Jeffries, you will recall, who defeated a CIO official, Richard Frankenstein, for reelection as Detroit mayor last year.

Another possible contender is Raymond J. Kelly of Detroit, namesake of the present governor, whose qualifications for the executive office include being a veteran of both World War I and II, a past national commander of the American Legion and a former corporate counsel for the City of Detroit.

Detroit citizens have a weakness of voting for name candidates. Frank Murphy was publicized widely as mayor of Detroit and then governor of Michigan at a subsequent state election the voters whooped it up for a Democratic namesake, the late Frank Murphy, then an un-

WED IN CHURCH RITES

Mr. and Mrs. Robert LaChapelle

Before a background of snapdragons, ferns and candles, Miss Edwina Simpson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Simpson, became the bride of Robert LaChapelle son of Alvin LaChapelle and Mrs. Cecile Church also of Grayling.

The four o'clock wedding took place at the Methodist Memorial Church, Thursday, March 21, 1946. Rev. Svend Holm officiated. Miss Virginia Martin played "Lohengrin's Wedding March" and "Love You Truly" was sung by Miss Wilda Patch. The bride who was attractively attired in a real blue suit and black accessories, was given in marriage by her father. Her flowers were pink carnations. She was attended by Miss Gloria McDaniels, who chose a blue grey suit, black accessories. Her flowers were white carnations. Carl Henry Nielsen served as best man. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was given at the bridegroom's home by Mr. and Mrs. Simpson. Twenty-one friends and relatives were present. The table was attractive with the traditional three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, snapdragons and lighted tapers. Open house was held later in the evening at the home of the bride's parents.

Both Mr. and Mrs. LaChapelle were born and raised in Grayling and graduated from Grayling High School. Bob in the class of '44 and Edwina with the class of '44. Bob a veteran of 28 months in the armed forces of which 18 months was spent overseas, plans to attend Michigan State College in fall.

The young couple are spending the week in Detroit.

FREDERIC SPORTSMEN CAPTURE RARE WOODLAND BIRD NEAR DEWARD

A group of Frederic sportsmen succeeded in bagging a rare specimen of forest birdlife while on a trip along the Manistee River near Deward a short time ago. The bird, known as a pine stump raven, is now on display in the windows of the Ron's Hardware Store.

The Frederic sportsmen, although shy to allow their names to be used in connection with the story, turned out two large posters to accompany the display of the rare specimen. One tells about the woods bird while the other poster purports to be the bird's last message.

The poster telling of the bird is headed, Pete, the Pine stump raven, and continues: Captured on the Manistee River near Deward on March 15, 1946. It is believed by local sportsmen and the faculty of the U. of D. (University of Deward) to be the only bird hatched out of a stump and to remain hatched until captured. It is also believed by stump jumpers of Crawford County that it's mudder was a windstorm. The poster headed as Pete's Farewell Message is in poem form and says:

Goodbye to Deward and the Manistee
They cut me loose and now I'm free
To fly anyplace I wish to be.
You know I's getting aged, I can't desire
To be completely destroyed by a forest fire.

So I'm heading for Grayling full throttle.
That sunny little city on the old AuSable
And when I get there I'll buzz
And brag of what a big stump I was.

I'll see folks I never seen before Going in, coming out of Ron's Hardware Store
Carrying things like pots, pans, stoves and switehes,
In fact, I believe some hunting britches,
Bout like the color the lumber-jacks wore.

When they fell the pines on the forest floor
I suppose fishing tackle, guns and shells
An what gosh awful lots of things Ron's sells.
But hate it I'm sure if somebody should ask
For a cross cut handle and Ron had sold his last.

For pleasing his customers is his aim and laws.

And me, a queer old bird, just full of flaws
With a tail like the handles on a cross cut saw.
The poem is signed Pete Pine-stump. Under the signature is an explanation that the message was found scratched on a stump near Deward. And so Crawford County comes up with another rare specimen to take its place alongside the world-famous Prairie Pike and several other species known only to Grayling and the surrounding countryside. These rare specimens of wildlife are great advertisements for the hunter to stalk his game in and near Grayling as one never knows when another "out of this world" or a long lost specimen of fish, fowl or animal might appear in the rivers or streams, woods or fields of Crawford County.

After an interesting discussion, the class started on in search of more deer. About 15 minutes after the first deer was discovered, Mr. Failing stumbled upon another one. To all appearances he had died from the same thing as the first one had.

We then continued our hike, coming out of the woods at what seemed to be about ten miles from the bus, but was closer to a mile and a half. After walking this slight distance to the bus we returned to school.

Class On Field Trip To The Deeryards

By Fred Allen

The Sociology Class met at the school at 1:15 to go on a field trip to the deeryards. The trip was conducted by Mr. Dorman and Mr. Failing, two of Crawford County's conservation officers.

The purpose of the trip was for the class to get an idea of the White Tailed deer's habits, its food and its problems of living.

Using the Grayling school bus for transportation, we started out for we didn't know where. Following Mr. Dorman and Mr. Failing, we ended up across the Lure Lodge road, this side of Lake Margrethe on M-72. From here we began our trip, but before we started Mr. Failing and Mr. Dorman gave a treatise on the subject of deer—of which we have the Virginia White Tail of their food, which in the winter consists mainly of cedar-boughs, and their living and eating habits.

After this discussion on deer, Mr. Dorman brought up a pretty bad subject—that of throwing garbage ways and roads which is a habit in our country, depending on tourists for a living, is very important. Doing such a thing and leaving it detracts from the beauties of our Northern Michigan highways. As Mr. Dorman stated, "If you see someone doing it, you don't have to necessarily turn them in to the law," for there is a law against it, "but you can make them mighty ashamed of themselves for doing it."

We now started our trip. Cutting across by a swamp into the woods we started on a large circle around it back to the highway. Before we had walked too far a yearling fawn, apparently dead from starvation, was discovered by Richard L. Nelson. Calling the class closer around him, Mr. Failing started to dissect the deer, showing us that although the fawn's stomach was full of grass and pine needles it had still starved to death from lack of energy and heat which the browsed out cedar limbs would have given him.

After an interesting discussion, the class started on in search of more deer. About 15 minutes after the first deer was discovered, Mr. Failing stumbled upon another one. To all appearances he had died from the same thing as the first one had.

We then continued our hike, coming out of the woods at what seemed to be about ten miles from the bus, but was closer to a mile and a half. After walking this slight distance to the bus we returned to school.

Northern Michigan winter sports centers attracted a total attendance of 100,000 persons during the season just closed, it was announced at a meeting of directors of the East Michigan Winter Sports Council here Friday.

In conclusion, he thanked newspapers and radio stations for their co-operation in publicizing the programs, and Northern Michigan communities and organizations for their financial support.

It was decided that the next meeting would be held Sept. 9 at Standish. At this time plans for next year's program will be organized and many of the winter sports towns are expected to join the council.

Naval Officer Speaks at School

Lt. Roy Monty of the United States Navy spoke to the High School on the Naval Prison program on Friday. He explained the program as carried out by the Navy.

He stressed the need of young people to learn how to abide by the rules and regulations governing society. Lt. Monty gave the students many helpful suggestions for achieving success in one's chosen work.

During the past few years, Lt. Monty served in the Pacific Theater as a communications officer. He saw service in the Philippines, Okinawa and Japan.

Later he served as an assignment officer in the Naval Prison at Camp Peary, Virginia.

He will return to his civilian job as Rehabilitation Agent with the State Board of Control for Vocational Education in Kalamazoo.

Crack Service Station Safe

Safe crackers forced an entrance into the Hayes Oil Company service station on US-27 south of the AuSable River Friday night and after what police estimated as one and a half hours of pounding, succeeded in opening the safe and escaping with a sum of money.

An electric drill was the only other thing stolen in the breaking-and-entering case, which is now being investigated by both the State Police and Sheriff John A. Papendick.

Entrance was apparently made through a back window which was found slightly open and the thieves left through a large service door at the front of the building. The irony of the situation was that the robbers used tools from the station's service department to break open the safe.

Kiwanis Club Notes

Miss Olmstead, nursing representative of the Red Cross Central Office at St. Louis, Missouri was the speaker at the week's meeting of the Kiwanis Club.

She discussed the problems the Red Cross faces in converting from their war time status to a peace time basis.

One of the large jobs the Red Cross is now doing is the setting up of disaster preparedness committees in each local chapter. This committee would have a plan mapped out for the national Red Cross to follow in case a disaster struck a community.

Another peace time job is the amplifying of the home nursing program on a plane that would have one member of each household trained to care for patients. Another reason for the need of this program, Miss Olmstead said, was the fact that many nurses who were in the service are not returning to their home communities. Their travel during the war has opened new places for them, she explained.

The Red Cross is now working with the home economics department in many schools in an attempt to spread the home nursing course, the speaker said.

Scouts Receive Tenderfoot Badges

Some 35 boys were awarded their tenderfoot badges in an impressive investiture ceremony held at the school house last Thursday evening, March 21, the first day of spring. The awards were made by John H. Peterson and George Granger, both of whom were formerly Scouts. Following the presentation Mr. Granger gave an excellent talk on "The Ideals of Scouting," pointing out the many great moments of today who were Scouts in their boyhood.

HERE'S TO HEALTH

Take Care of Colds
Colds are almost as popular a topic of conversation as the weather. And, as with the weather, few people do anything about them. Many people, of course, have their favorite remedy for colds but even they find that colds keep coming back.

While people do not die just from colds, the common cold often leads to serious illnesses which may cause death. Not only that, colds are a nuisance and very disagreeable things to have. They can make a person miserable and lower his capacity for work and for the enjoyment of life.

Medical science does not claim to know all the answers about colds. It does know enough important facts about them, however, to help avoid catching colds, or once they have them, to indicate how to care for them to prevent colds from leading to more serious illnesses.

It is important to remember that colds are catching. They do not develop spontaneously. We catch colds from someone who has one—or we give a cold to someone else. There would be fewer colds if people always remembered to cover their mouths when sneezing or coughing, if they were careful not to drink from glasses or cups used by another person.

One way to avoid catching colds is to keep away from people who have them. We can't always do this, so we should keep our bodies in such healthy condition that they are able to resist colds. This means getting sufficient rest, eating well-balanced meals, which include fresh fruits and vegetables, and seeing the doctor periodically, even if we think we are perfectly well.

If we do catch a cold we should not neglect it. A cold may lead to influenza, to pneumonia, to ear trouble. It may so weaken the system that we become a ready prey to tuberculosis.

Children are particularly apt to develop ear trouble after a cold. While they have bad colds they should be kept away from school until the worst is over. While at home, they should be kept quiet and should not be permitted to play with other children.

It is not always necessary for an adult to stay at home with a cold but it is often the wise thing to do. If the cold is accompanied by fever, both adults and children should be kept at home.

Rest and diet are important factors in curing a cold. Weakness by the cold, the body needs extra rest and easily digested foods. Rich, heavy foods should be avoided. The diet should include plenty of liquids—water, fruit juices and clear soups.

Colds are undoubtedly a nuisance, but by taking care of ourselves when we have them, future trouble can be avoided. Checking up on health will be discussed in the next article. (This article is presented by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association in the interests of better health.)

Yellow Spots
Baboons, the only sub-human primates that have abandoned the trees for life in the open country, are also the only members of that group of living creatures (aside from their human cousins) with wide prevalence of nearsightedness. The apes, monkeys, lemurs and other primates that still swing from tree to tree in the shade are generally farsighted. Human beings and the higher primates are the only creatures that have a central area for sharp vision, known as the "yellow spot," in the retina of the eye. Human beings depend upon these retinal "yellow spots" for reading and other close-focusing work.

"Lead, kindly light, Amid the encircling gloom"

THE days and nights are long and dreary in the jungle. Mud and bugs, sweat and loneliness—that's about all there is to life out there for our troops.

But that's not quite all. For through the darkness a light still shines—the kindly light of the Red Cross hut. Providing music, games, recreation for our weary, homesick men. A place to meet—someone to talk to—they need those things so desperately. And they have them, thanks to you. For you have kept your Red Cross at their side.

And as long as there's a single American man still on foreign soil, your Red Cross must stay at his side.

If he has a problem, the Red Cross is right there to help him in every possible way—from a Red Cross loan or grant to straightening out some personal difficulty.

The Red Cross two-way communications system is at his beck and call, to put him in personal touch with you in case of emergency. He is no farther from you than your nearest Red Cross Chapter.

If he is sick or injured, the Red Cross worker will help him overcome anxieties—write his letters for him—help him settle personal problems at home—do what his own mother would do for him, if she could be there.

Yes, he still needs your Red Cross. And the Red Cross needs your dollars. It depends on you for its existence. The only income of the Red Cross is what you give.

Its great work of mercy must go on here at home, too. Hurricanes, floods, fire, disaster never surrender. The Red Cross must be ready with aid for the victims—with food, clothing, life-saving drugs. Only you can make it possible.

Won't you give to the Red Cross—today?

YOUR Red Cross MUST CARRY ON ... GIVE!

A Cheap Trick

Whatever the OPA's merits may be as a price control agency, it sadly detracts from its official stature when it charges American citizens with promoting inflation because they do not agree with some of its policies and methods. A leading retailer group, in taking issue with the derogatory tactics of OPA, puts the position of the retailer on the record in unmistakably clear language: "Retailers who stay in business do so because they place the interests of their customers first. Retailers who do not place the interests of their customers first do not long remain in business. If any retailer . . . were to be so unwise as to lose sight of customer interest in favor of temporary short term profit, the day of reckoning against them would be sure."

"As merchants, we shall owe our continued existence to the prosperity and purchasing power of the consuming public, our interests are inseparable from its in every respect. If we profit temporarily . . . at the expense of the customer, we follow a shortsighted policy that has only one possible result—failure."

"Therefore, it is ridiculous to assume that the retailers and the consumers are on opposite sides of the fence in the matter of price and commodity control. We are on the same side of the fence, and . . . you will find every good merchant looking out for the consumer's interest because that is also in his own best interest."

An economic study circulated in Washington compared the living standards of the average wage earners in leading nations.

On this comparative basis, Russia is where the United States was in 1790; Italy is about the U. S. of 1812; Germany matches us at 1860; and England enjoys the living standard of the U. S. of 1870.

Trade at Home.

Communities grow in proportion to the support given them by their residents. You cannot boost (your city or town by trading elsewhere or placing business in other localities that could be placed at home. More than owing it to your community to trade at home, thus keeping your money at home, you should give the home merchants first opportunity to serve you, from a sound economic standpoint.

School was out so Wayne Ewalt, the Avalanche Devil and Fred Bromwell, decided that they would visit the latter's father, William Bromwell at Riverside, and would make the trip on skis. They got a bad start when they went to one of the local stores and purchased some eatables, among them a large supply of hamburger. This was placed on their hands and while their backs were turned a dog came along and true to regular dog instincts, smelled the meat and soon had a good portion of it devoured and the remainder mopped about in the snow so that it was then only good for dog fodder. The boys finally got to Riverview all right and decided that they would try and spear a few suckers in the river. All went well until their boat struck a snag and capsized spilling the boys into the water. Of course it was wet and cold, but that only added to the interest of the day, for a change of clothing and a hot fire soon had them fit for any other adventure that might turn up. They stayed at the Bromwells a couple of days and claim that they had a ripping good time.

The confirmation services at the Danish Lutheran Church last Sunday were well attended. Rev. Kjolhede, pastor of that church, administered the rites of Confirmation on the following young men: Albert Schroeder, Russell Robertson, Holger Hanson, Sigrid Johnson, Theodore Johnson. The choir rendered many beautiful hymns during the special service.

Proper Use of Veterans' Administration Form 1950

Considerable confusion exists relative to Veterans' Administration Form 1950. First in importance—veterans should know this; a 1950 may be filed as soon as a veteran is separated from service. It is not necessary to indicate on the form the name of a school or training institution.

The Certificate of Eligibility and Entitlement, (Form 1950) issued by the Veterans Administration, as a result of the filing of Form 1950 by a veteran, may be used to establish the right of entry into any college, university, veterans' institute or any apprenticeship or on-the-job training course, which may be decided upon later by the veteran.

The prompt filing of Form 1950

PARIS OBJECTS . . . Against Franco executions of 10 anti-Fascists. This mass demonstration was held in Paris demanding an immediate break with Franco.

NEW NAVY COACH—Capt. Thomas James Hamilton, USN, Columbus, Ohio, who had been appointed head football coach at the U. S. navy academy. He will be aided by Edgar E. "Rip" Miller, who will serve as assistant coach.

will expedite the processing of the Certificate of Eligibility and assure the veteran of getting his subsistence allowance much faster.

Form 1950 is an application for a course of education or training or a refresher course or retraining course under Title II of Public Law 346. It is to be directed to the Veterans Administration, Dearborn, Michigan, or it may be submitted to any contact office of the Veterans Administration, and it will be forwarded by that office to Dearborn. Copies of the application form are available through the local veterans' counseling centers.

The application is not difficult to fill out, but if help is desired in some instances, a veteran should ask for help from a veterans' counselor or call at a contact office of the Veterans Administration. There are certain documents that should accompany Form 1950. First, is a certified copy or certified photostatic copy of the honorable discharge. Never send the original copy of the discharge with the application, the certified copy is sufficient. If a veteran has dependents, a certified copy of the marriage certificate is sent; if a veteran with a deceased wife wishes to establish a claim for dependent child, a copy of the birth certificate is required. Veteran with dependents are causing themselves needless delay in establishing claims for the $90.00 subsistence pay allowed by forgetting one of these last two items.

Several federal and state agencies report that they are receiving misdirected Form 1950's. The date of the payment of subsistence depends upon the date the V. A. Form 1950 is received at the Veterans Administration, Dearborn, Michigan. It is important to the approved school or approved employer and the veteran trainee that the V. A. Form 1950 reaches the Veterans Administration promptly.

Ben Ryder and the Wanderlust

During the war, Ben Ryder talked about the trips he'd take when gasoline rationing was ended. Used to pore over roadmaps—checking mileages and charting routes.

Now Ben's taking quite a lot of ribbing. Soon as rationing was lifted, he decided he liked staying home, putting in the garden, playing chess, sharing a pleasant glass of beer with friends.

"Shucks," admits Ben sheepishly, "as soon as you own go, then it's just as good as having gone!"

You might as well stay home . . .

From where I sit, that's a pretty common trait in human nature. Take that glass of beer, for instance. During Prohibition, Ben was nursing an insatiable thirst. But come repeal, Ben suddenly finds he's happy with a friendly, moderate glass of beer—and nothing more. Yep—just tell folks the sky's the limit, and they'll settle for a piece of friendly earth.

FAST
WARM-UP

WARM-UP is the period of time after the engine starts during which the choke must be used. The shorter the warm-up period, the better.

Fast warm-up means smoother, more economical operation. Slow warm-up often results in stalling of the engine, extra long use of the choke, and the motor may "buck" or "gas" as many drivers know, to their annoyance.

Improved FIRE-POWER, resulting from Texaco's accurate control of the many qualities that make a gasoline good, gives new Texaco Sky Chief and Fire-Chief their fast, smooth warm-up. Texaco's balance of volatility and other desirable gasoline characteristics, enable Sky Chief and Fire-Chief to form a fast-firing mixture while the engine is cool. This cuts down the need for excessive use of the choke, with its risk of flooding the carburetor and diluting the crankcase oil. It also works to prevent "bucking" and "gapping" and results in smooth, easy performance right from the start.

OLD JUDGE: "Glad to tell you, George. Until recently, a person known as an alcoholic was generally treated as a social outcast. Little if anything was done to understand him or help him. But, during the past few years, medical research and study has developed that alcoholics are really sick people... that there is usually a deep-rooted physical, social or emotional reason behind their behavior. That's why today so much is being done to help them by finding out and correcting the condition that leads them to excess."

GEORGE: "How many folks are there like that, Judge?"

OLD JUDGE: "Well, according to scientific research, 95% of the people who drink, drink sensibly. 5% do so unwisely, at times. Included in that 5% is the small percentage of the sick people I'm talking about."

GEORGE: "That certainly gives me a clearer picture. It's the most sensible approach I've ever heard of the subject."

STATE OF MICHIGAN.
In the Circuit Court for the County of Crawford, in Chancery.

In the matter of the petition of John D. Morrison, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State, for the sale of certain lands for taxes assessed thereon.

To the Circuit Court for the County of Crawford, in Chancery:

John D. Morrison, Auditor General of the State of Michigan, respectfully shows unto the Court:

1. That he is the Auditor General of the State of Michigan and makes and files this petition under, by virtue of and pursuant to the provisions of Article No. 20 of the Public Acts of 1893, as amended, and Act No. 226 of the Public Acts of 1933, as amended;

2. That Schedule A annexed hereto is the tax record required by the act first above mentioned and contains the description of all lands in the aforesaid county upon which taxes, which were assessed for the years mentioned therein, have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, the description of all lands in said county heretofore bid off in the name of the State and thus held and upon which taxes, which were assessed subsequent to the tax for which such lands were sold to the State have remained unpaid for more than one year after they were returned as delinquent, and the description of all lands in said County which are delinquent for any installment of taxes under the provisions of the act last above mentioned;

3. That extended separately in said schedule against each description of said lands therein contained are (a) the total amount of delinquent taxes upon said description for the non-payment of which the same may lawfully be sold at the next annual tax sale, (b) interest computed thereon as provided by law to the first day of May, next ensuing, (c) a collection fee of four per cent and (d) $1.00 for expenses, all in accordance with the provisions of the act first above mentioned;

4. That all of the aforesaid taxes, interest and charges are valid, delinquent and unpaid, and have remained delinquent and unpaid for sufficient time to authorize and require, as provided by the foregoing acts, the sale of the aforesaid parcels of land against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof, and that the said taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses so extended in said schedule constitute a valid lien upon each of the said several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof;

Wherefore your petitioner prays:

a. That within the time provided by law this court may determine and decree that the aforesaid taxes, interest, collection fee and charges are valid and constitute a valid lien upon each of the several parcels of land described in said schedule as therein and against which they were assessed and are extended in said schedule at the next annual tax sale for the non-payment thereof;

b. That within the time provided by law this court make a final decree in favor of the State of Michigan against each parcel of said lands for the payment of the several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, as computed and extended in said schedule against the several parcels of land therein contained;

c. That said decree provide that in default of the payment so ordered of the said several amounts of taxes, interest, collection fee and expenses, the said several parcels of land, or such interest therein as may be necessary to satisfy the amount decreed against the same, shall severally be sold as the law provides;

d. That your petitioner may have such other and further relief in the premises as to this court may seem just and equitable. And your petitioner will ever pray, etc.

Dated: January 23, 1946.
JOHN D. MORRISON,
Auditor General of the State of Michigan, for and in behalf of said State.

CHAPTER XVIII

Rob was trying to make himself heard. "If you will have it," he said, "I lost my shirt."

"That's what he was saying to Charley," insisted Bess Gifford. "And I can't see what they go on raising horses for."

"Just for the fun of giving 'em away," said Charley, "or seeing 'em lose on the race track."

"Did you really, Rob?" asked Genevieve Scott.

"I did," said Rob grinning. "Who could have done it but me? I hit that sale with two carloads of horses just when the Cardinals polo players were unloading their stuff before they left the States. Their horses sold for fabulous prices. American horses sold for a song."

Nell sat very still. That was the way he had chosen to tell her. Earlier on him than to tell it seriously when they were alone together. Earlier on her too.

Nell's eyes widened and flew to Rob's. Was it that bad? It couldn't be. Surely, even if he had had to sacrifice the horses for the lowest prices, with two carloads, there would be enough realized to pay their bills.

Her eyes held a definite question. For the first time Rob met her gaze directly and his hard expression gave her a definite answer. Her eyelids fell. It was true. A disaster. But she didn't care. Money—what did it have to do with them?

While the hilarious and senseless talk criss-crossed the table, Nell listened to the music. An orchestra and Arthur Rubinstein were playing a Rachmaninoff concerto. The broad, impassioned crescendos entered into her blood. So men could feel that way too. It had been composed by a man. It was being played by a man. It was the way she felt.

At some time during the evening someone announced that it was snowing, and the men went out and closed the windows of their cars. Gus kept bringing in logs for the fireplaces and bowls of glogg. It was too late and the weather was too bad for anyone to think of driving back to Laramie that night. Nell went into the downstairs bedroom to be sure there was oil in the lamps. Striking a match and shielding the flickering wisp of flame, she suddenly saw another hand resting on the table before her. She could not mistake that
